

“The changes coming in the next five years will dwarf those of the last ten. Most companies are wholly unprepared; under-investing in the very people who will guide them through the biggest challenges their firm has seen. Training has never been more critical to personal and corporate success.”

Danny Meadows-Klue, Founder, Digital Strategy Consulting & The Digital Training Academy

The knowledge transfer business

Our 2007 Academies: which would help your team?

Each Academy is a programme of support that changes your team

Our Digital Training Academy Programmes start with a detailed analysis of your needs, and the customization of your Academy. Next we'll deliver pre-course reading, before one or two days of intensive training. Afterwards there's post-course strategy materials and extra online tutor support. All Academy participants gain membership of Digital's graduate programme and enjoy a steady stream of research to keep them briefed with what's happening in the industry. We also deliver 'key issue' reports to the training commissioners.

Tick the Academies you're interested in and we'll send the full prospectus.
